

ABSTRACT

Materials and methods are described for electroless deposition of copper molybdenum. An aqueous bath composition for the electroless deposition of copper

5 molybdenum includes;

a soluble source of copper ions,

a soluble source of molybdenum ions, and a reducing agent comprising boron,

wherein the composition is adapted to electrolessly 10 produce a copper molybdenum deposit.